

HealthCareerCenter.com, powered by the American Hospital Association, connects healthcare employers and recruiters with top talent through an online job board that reaches healthcare associations and societies nationwide.

Targeted reach to top talent

By working with us, you get access to more than 300 association and professional society job boards covering multiple specialties spanning nursing, physician, allied health, operational and professional roles.

Simple process

We make it easy.

- jobs are automatically distributed to relevant sites within our network
- we accept automated job feeds
- a subject matter expert will manage your postings and reporting through a single account
- searchable database of high-quality candidates

National Healthcare Career Network

National Healthcare Career Network

As a co-founder of the National Healthcare Career Network (NHCN), we have relationships with hundreds of specialty association career sites that attract highly qualified, hard-to-find talent. Our reach means that with one posting, your job will automatically be displayed on relevant association job boards. You'll also have immediate access to a resume database that contains information on association members who represent the best in their field.

We have helped nearly 2,000 healthcare employers save time and money with this approach. Let us know how we can help you!

THE VALUE OF OUR CONNECTION TO THE National Healthcare Career Network

Rather than logging into separate association career sites, your job is listed ONCE and automatically distributed to NHCN sites.
